Fighting Gully Road_

Fighting Gully Road

2021 Gros Manseng Moelleux

The Wine

Palate

Bouquet

pH:

textural, luscious with flavours of tropical fruits, and fresh cleansing acidity ripe pineapple, mango, candied citrus and Acacia blossom

Harvest Dates: 31st May, 2021

H: 3.55

Alcohol by Volume: 12.5%

Vigneron Mark Walpole Residual sugar: 97 g/L

Oak Maturation:

fermented in stainless steel, then aged for 12-months in a mix of new and seasoned 300L Acacia barriques

The Vintage

Growing season conditions varied considerably. Early season temperatures were mild followed by a deluge of over 150mm of rain in early December; and another 40mm in late December. This provided considerable soil moisture reserves for the hot January which followed. A fortnight of days above 30 degrees from mid to late January, were trying but February temperatures declined, and fruit was harvested in mid-February without delay.

The Vinification

Grapes were harvested at the end of the season when fully ripe and partially shrivelled. They were then crushed and allowed to soak on skins to allow sugar from dried berries to become released prior to pressing. Juice was transferred to barrel where fermentation and maturation took place.

The Inspiration

One of the great dessert wines of the World, the Jurancon Moelleux's combine exotic flavours and high natural acidity to produce a complex sweet wine without the influence botrytis.

ghting Gully.

2021

GROS MANSENG

